

Gladwyne Elementary School

LMSD schools will celebrate Black History Month with a variety of educational and enrichment activities throughout February. African-American history is part of the year-long curriculum at all levels, but teachers and students will take extra time throughout the month for further exploration of significant historical figures and events. Displays throughout the schools will feature art, literature and general information reinforcing curricular learning while a variety of programs and classroom-specific activities will emphasize the significance of African-Americans throughout history.

- 🌟 Gladwyne Elementary School's theme for Black History Month is Amazing Young Activists: Making Change in the World. Students will have the opportunity to learn about young African-Americans who are working to make an impact in their communities and in the world-at-large. Students will learn that an activist is someone who takes action as they work to create positive change and that you don't have to wait to be a "grownup" to make a difference!
- 🌟 Starting the last week of January and throughout the month of February, posters will be created and displayed throughout the school highlighting these young "changemakers" that were researched and studied by Gladwyne students, which will help in answering trivia questions each day. Each classroom will also select a young activist to research in more depth and showcase their findings through creating bulletin board displays, interactive Google slides and/or videos to share with the school community!
